#55 1956 DENVER ZEPHYR Overnight, Every Night Act II: 196 pages, authored by J. W. Schultz. _____ $50.00 _____
 Picking up where Burlington Bulletin #50 left off, this issue of the Bulletin recounts the history of these last true American streamliners, 1956's vista-dome Denver Zephyr, from their pre-service exhibitions in October 1956, through the March 1970 Burlington Northern merger, and up to their demise at the dawn of the National Railroad Passenger Corporation on May 1, 1971.

#56 BULLETIN CONTAINS 4 ARTICLES ON VARIED TOPICS: The first is from Leo Phillip covering his first-hand accounts of working the Earlville Turn and the Montgomery Ill., Caterpillar plant. Rupert Gamlen then fills out the rest of the issue with articles covering the La Mothe Iron Tube cars, which were early metal cars looked at and briefly used by the Q, a brief article on Thomas Potter and Henry Stone, two principal CB&Q company officers directly involved with the iron car experiment, and finally, the story of the Harvey Steel Car Company, which brought about, with the assistance of the Burlington, a revolution in the construction of freight cars. _____ $20.00 _____

#57 "Homage to the E5" By noted author and historian, J.W. (Bill) Schultz, expands the coverage of the Burlington's fleet of eleven E5A and five E5B units (the only cabless E-units ever owned by the Q). The issue begins with a brief look at the Electro-Motive diesels that led to the E5 and its contemporaries, helping place the E5's life and times in context with those of the other 186 pre-war E-units. Comprehensive coverage, both in text and photos, of the E5 careers on the Q, C&S and FW&DC are the bulk of the issue. It closes with a brief look at its repatriation at the Illinois Railway Museum and off-ground excursions. This is a perfect-bound, 100-page issue, with 141 B&W images, 21 color images, 6 scale drawings (as built and 1960s versions), ephemera and an updated roster is a must for Burlington, locomotive or passenger fans! _____ $35.00 _____
